1. SECTION II — RISK FACTORS

FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENTS; MARKET DATA

The Company has included statements in the Red Herring Prospectus which contain words or phrases such as “will”, “aim”, “will likely result”, “believe”, “expect”, “will continue”, “anticipate”, “estimate”, “intend”, “plan”, “contemplate”, “seek to”, “future”, “objective”, “goal”, “project”, “should”, “will pursue” and similar expressions or variations of such expressions, that are “forward-looking statements”.

Actual results may differ materially from those suggested by the forward looking statements due to risks or uncertainties associated with the expectations of the Company with respect to, but not limited to, their ability to successfully implement their strategy, their growth and expansion, technological changes, their exposure to market risks, general economic and political conditions in India which have an impact on the business activities or investments, the monetary and interest, policies of India, inflation, deflation, unanticipated turbulence in interest rates, foreign exchange rates, equity prices or other rates or prices, the performance of the financial markets in India and globally, changes in domestic and foreign laws, regulations and taxes and changes in competition in the industry.

For further discussion of factors that could cause the actual results to differ, see the section entitled “Risk Factors” beginning on page ix of this Prospectus. By their nature, certain market risk disclosures are only estimates and could be materially different from what actually occurs in the future. As a result, actual future gains or losses could materially differ from those that have been estimated. Neither the Company nor the members of the Syndicate, nor any of their respective affiliates have any obligation to update or otherwise revise any statements reflecting circumstances arising after the date hereof or to reflect the occurrence of underlying events, even if the underlying assumptions do not come to fruition. In accordance with SEBI requirements, the Company and the BRLMs will ensure that investors in India are informed of material developments until such time as the grant of listing and trading permission by the Stock Exchanges.

Unless stated otherwise, the financial data in this Prospectus is derived from our unconsolidated financial statements prepared in accordance with the Indian GAAP included elsewhere in this Prospectus. Unless stated otherwise, references to consolidated financial information is to the consolidated financial information under Indian GAAP.

Use of Market Data

Market/Industry data used throughout this Prospectus was obtained from the Company. The information contained in those publications has been obtained from sources believed to be reliable, but their accuracy and completeness are not guaranteed and their reliability cannot be assured. Although, the Company believes that the market data used in this Prospectus is reliable, it has not been independently verified. Similarly, data provided by the Company, while believed by the Company to be reliable, has not been verified by any independent sources.

2. RISK FACTORS

An investment in Equity Shares involves a high degree of risk. You should carefully consider all of the information in this Prospectus, including the risks and uncertainties described below, before making an investment in the Equity Shares of the Company. If any of the following risks actually occur, the business, results of operations and financial condition could suffer, the trading price of the Equity Shares of the Company could decline, and the investor may lose all or part of his investment.

Materiality

The Risk factors have been determined on the basis of their materiality. The following factors have been considered for determining the materiality:

- a) Some events may not be material individually but may be found material collectively.
- b) Some events may have material impact qualitatively instead of quantitatively.
- c) Some events may not be material at present but may be having material impacts in future.

The risk factors are as envisaged by the management along with the proposals to address the risk if any. Wherever possible, the financial impact of the risk factors has been quantified.

A. INTERNAL TO THE COMPANY

1. The Company is promoted by first generation entrepreneurs and the investments will be subjected to all consequential risk associated with such ventures.

The company was promoted by first generation entrepreneurs 15 years back. The company's business was the brain-child of these entrepreneurs and the sourcing of solutions provided by the company was the result of their efforts and understanding. Consequently, the relationships that the company has established with various stakeholders are a product of the efforts of the erstwhile promoters and carry inherent consequential risk. Currently, a team consisting of qualified professionals is managing the company on a day-to-day basis.

2. Dependence on key management Team

The company has a team of professionals who are responsible for the day-to-day operations. The company may lose the key management team to the competitors. If one or more members of the management team are unable or unwilling to continue with the company, Bartronics may find it difficult to replace such people and the business may be adversely affected.

3. Contingent liability against the Company

As on September 30, 2005 the contingent liability outstanding against the company is as follows:

(Rs. in Lacs)

SI.No.	Particulars	30.09.05
1	Bank Guarantee	3.04
	Total	3.04

4. The proposed expansion project is mainly funded by the Public Issue. Any delay in raising the funds from IPO may have an adverse impact on the future performance of the Company.

Delays in raising funds are likely to have an impact in the growth plans of the company in the short run due to delayed deployment of funds. Due to delays, it is likely that the company may have to renegotiate with some of the suppliers and in some cases even settle for alternate suppliers for key equipment. Such processes can delay the project thereby affecting the future performance of the company. The performance projections are prepared based on timely raising of funds and hence the delay in IPO can effect future performance of the company.

5. Low promoter holding

The promoters and the promoter's group are expected to hold 36.94 % of the post-issue paid up capital of the company.

The promoters and their group will hold relatively less equity in the company post-issue. To this extent, the control of the company's operations shall rest on its board of directors appointed from time to time. Due to broad-based shareholding pattern, the company shall be subjected to the risk of being run by an independent professional team.

6. The Company has not made any definitive arrangements for the procurement of some of the equipment/machinery/fixed assets for the project, which may cause delay in implementation of the project.

The process of issuing confirmation to the suppliers for the supply of equipments have been held up due to the company not having released any advances to the suppliers. Because of delay in payment of advances to suppliers, the delivery of the equipment/materials may get delayed in turn causing further delay in project implementation. By not finalizing terms with some of the vendors, the company may also be faced with situation of seeking new vendors/suppliers where negotiations and discussions need to be started afresh. As a result, the project implementation may be significantly effected in terms of delays.

7. If the Company is unable to implement its growth strategies in a timely manner, its business and results of operations could be adversely affected.

The company intends to implement its domestic and international growth strategies through opening of branches in strategic locations. In addition, the Company's success will depend on, among other things, its ability to secure required financing, assess potential markets, time its capital investments, control input costs, attract new customers in India and in international markets, maintain and enhance position with its current customers both in India and internationally and maintain sufficient operational and financial controls. The Company's growth strategy may place significant demands on its management and other resources.

The Company's growth strategies involve risks and difficulties, many of which are beyond its control and accordingly there can be no assurance that it will be able to complete its plans on schedule or without incurring additional expenditures or at all. If market conditions change and operations do not generate sufficient funds or for any other reasons, the Company may decide to delay, modify or forego some aspects of its growth strategies. The future results of operations may be adversely affected if it is unable to implement its growth strategies successfully.

8. Expanding Company's market outside of India could increase costs and may decrease profits.

Opening of branches outside India has its own associated risks of different markets and different cultures. So far, the company has operated in India only and has achieved its success only in the Indian Market. Overseas expansion has its own gestation period and costs and hence, if the company is not able to gear up its operations swiftly, the performance may be effected drastically.

As such, the Company's international marketing experience is limited and there can be no assurance that it will be able to expand its export activities as planned. The business strategy of expansion into foreign markets will require the Company to adapt its products and marketing strategy to foreign markets. In many markets, the Company may have to establish subsidiaries or affiliated companies using local partners or conclude co-operation agreements with companies who are already established. In the case of such joint ventures and other cooperation arrangements, there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to negotiate attractive terms or prevail in a potential disagreement with its business partners.

The Company foray into foreign markets will also expose it to risks associated with different legal and taxation regimes and economic conditions in each country and to different (and potentially more onerous) legal regimes with respect to product liability and warranty requirements. The Company will also increase its exposure to risks of fluctuation in foreign currency exchange rates. As a result, its strategy of expansion into markets outside India could increase its costs of operations and thereby could have an adverse effect on future prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

9. Identification of Branches

The company is yet to identify locations for setting-up overseas branches at Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Dubai and Mauritius and domestic branches at Ahmedabad and Gauhati.

10. The Company is dependent on external suppliers for key materials and components.

The company is dependent on external suppliers for most of the hardware that the company sells. The failure of its suppliers to deliver these materials or components in the necessary quantities or to adhere to delivery schedules or specified quality standards/technical specifications, could adversely affect its business and its ability to deliver on time and at the desired level of quality giving rise to contractual penalties or liability, for failure to perform contracts, and a loss of customers and damage Company's reputation, any of which could materially adversely affect its results of operations.

Also, qualifying alternative suppliers that can meet the Company's technical and quality standards, and who can supply these materials in necessary quantities, would entail substantial cost and could cause delays in deliveries of the Company's solutions. Any of the foregoing could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Further, if the costs of these materials were to rise due to factors such as rises in input and commodity prices or shortages in supply, and the Company is not able to recover these costs through cost saving measures elsewhere or by increasing the prices of its solutions, its results of operations could be adversely affected. As such, should cost of materials rise, the Company can provide no assurance that it will be able to pass on any additional costs to its customers, and accordingly its results of operations could suffer. Finally, as the Company often purchase in advance materials based on its estimate of customer demand for an upcoming period, in the event prices for these materials subsequently decline there can be no assurance that the Company will be able to price its solutions based on the material costs it actually incurred, which would make its solutions uncompetitive compared to those of competitors who have not locked in their material supplies.

11. The Company's geographically diverse business operations and its rapid growth have placed constraints on the Company's ability to generate financial information in a timely manner. If the Company has difficulty in integrating and upgrading its reporting systems, the Company's ability to provide its management and investors with financial information, particularly for interim periods, may be adversely affected.

To be effective, and consistent with best practices, the Company's management requires accurate and reliable financial information on a timely basis. The geographically diverse nature of its operations and facilities and the rapid expansion of its business activities in recent periods has placed constraints on the ability of the Company's information and accounting systems to generate information on its financial condition promptly. Although the Company believe that this has so far not affected the timeliness and quality of the financial and operational information that its management receives, there can be no assurance that these constraints will not hinder the timeliness of such information in the future and this may adversely affect its ability to generate and management's ability to receive promptly information regarding its financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, the geographic spread of the Company's operations hinders timely reporting from certain locations and requires it to carry out manual processes to generate interim period-end financial information due to the delays in receiving the necessary base data. These manual processes may constrain its ability to generate and promptly compile its period-end information, particularly once financial information is consolidated. As a result, it takes time for the Company to generate and provide consolidated balance sheet, profit and loss account and cash flow information for interim periods.

12. The Company may, in the future, enter into strategic alliances, investments, partnerships and acquisitions. These may harm the Company's business, dilute your ownership interest and cause the Company to incur debt.

As part of the Company's growth strategy, it may enter into strategic alliances, make strategic investments, establish partnerships and/or make acquisitions relating to materials, components, complementary businesses, technologies, services or products. The Company may not be able to identify suitable investment opportunities, partners or acquisition candidates. If it does identify suitable investment opportunities, partners or acquisition candidates, the Company may have difficulty in accurately assessing the candidates, risks, placing an accurate valuation on it and it may be unable to negotiate terms commercially acceptable or favourable to it or complete those transactions at all.

If the Company acquires another company or form a new joint venture or other strategic partnership, it could have difficulty in integrating that company's business, including products, components, personnel, operations and technology, with the Company's business. In addition, the key personnel of an acquired company may decide not to work for the Company. Any potential acquisition, alliance or joint venture could involve a number of specific risks, including diversion of management's attention, higher costs, unanticipated events or circumstances, legal liabilities, failure of the business of the acquired company, fall in value of investments and amortisation of acquired intangible assets, some or all of which could have a material adverse impact on the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations. In the event that it plans to acquire or invest in an overseas company, the Company may be required to obtain the prior approval of the RBI, other regulators and/or the Government of India and there can be no assurance that such approvals will be obtained in a timely manner or at all.

The Company may finance future investments, partnerships or acquisitions with cash from operations, existing cash balances, debt financing, the issuance of additional Equity Shares or a combination of these or any other forms of financing. The Company cannot guarantee that it will be able to arrange financing on acceptable terms, if at all, to complete any such transaction. Investments, partnerships or acquisitions financed by the issuance of its Equity Shares would dilute the ownership interest of its shareholders and debt financing would increase the Company's leverage and financial risks. As of the date of this Prospectus, the Company has no definitive commitment or agreement for any material investment, partnership or acquisition.

13. The Company has significant planned capital expenditures; its capital expenditure plans may not yield the benefits intended. The capital expenditure mentioned in the Objects of the Issue has not been appraised by any bank or financial institution.

The Company operations require significant capital expenditure to be utilized for the purpose of setting up new Research and Development facilities, setting up of branches and marketing. For more details on the Company's planned expenditure please refer to the section entitled "Objects of the Issue" on page no.20 in this Prospectus. The figures in the capital expenditure plans are based on management estimates and have not been appraised by any bank, financial institution or other independent organisation. In addition, the Company's capital expenditure plans are subject to a number of variables, including possible cost overruns; receipt of critical governmental approvals; availability of financing on acceptable terms; and changes in management's views of the desirability of current plans, among others. There can be no assurance that any capacity addition or improvement at its facilities will be completed as planned or on schedule or that the Company will achieve its planned capacity, operational efficiency or product base, or its targeted return on investment. In view of the reasons stated above, the Company cannot assure that it will be able to execute its capital expenditure plans as contemplated. If the Company experiences significant delays or mishaps in the implementation of its capital expenditure plans or if there are significant cost overruns, then the overall benefit of such plans to its revenues and profitability may decline.

14. The Company has not entered into any definitive agreements to utilise the proceeds of the Issue. Further, the management of the Company will have significant flexibility in applying the proceeds of the Issue.

The Company intends to use the proceeds of the Issue for capital expenditure described in the section "Objects of the Issue" on page no.20 of this Prospectus. Except as stated in the section titled "Objects of the Issue" of this Prospectus, the Company has not entered into any definitive agreements to utilise such net proceeds. The Company has not yet placed orders for major items of plant and machinery . Pending any use of the proceeds of the Issue, the Company intends to invest the funds in liquid instruments.

The Company also propose to use part of its proceeds to fund strategic acquisitions, as and when the opportunities arise. The Company has not yet identified any potential targets for the above. It may also spend a portion of the proceeds of the Issue on expansion of its business instead of financing acquisitions. Accordingly, the management will have significant flexibility in applying the proceeds received by it from the Issue. The Company intends to rely on its internal systems and controls to monitor the use of such proceeds.

15. Technology Risk

Automated Identification and Data Collection (AIDC) systems can be extremely difficult to specify, quantify, or justify. There are performance and security issues to address in wireless networking. To many participants in the AIDC market space, RFID implementation is a new and to an extent a daunting challenge. The complicated array of environmental variables - radio frequency propagation characteristics, tag types, adhesives, surface reflective characteristics, packaging types, container types - is only one of several difficult aspects of RFID implementation to consider.

As is the case with most new technologies, the initial (adoption) stage is often considered to be the "guinea pig" stage. However, the Company maintains that adoption of the solutions provided by the Company cannot be considered to be too high a risk because such solutions have already been implemented elsewhere around the globe. Due to a long-domestic presence, and having consistently adapted the solutions to the Indian conditions for more than a decade, the Company is confident of mitigating its customers' concerns in this context.

16. Privacy Concerns of Individuals

It is apprehended that the technology carries the potential for serious privacy and security violations - particularly when used on individual consumer items. Key security issues include protecting the confidentiality, integrity and availability of the data and information systems. The privacy issues include notifying consumers; tracking an individual's movements; profiling an individual's habits, tastes and predilections; and allowing for secondary uses of information.

Privacy concerns in the Indian context is governed by statutory decrees and corporate policies. The Company is sensitive to such concerns and has taken proactive steps to ensure that it complies with laid down norms. In most cases, the solutions provided by the Company are followed up by extensive customer training and acclimatization which ensures that the solutions are adopted by the individuals with full knowledge of implications. Such measures taken by the Company ensures success of its solutions.

16. Cost

High costs become a major inhibitor to the uptake of the RFID technology. All the hardware for RFID is imported which means that costs are high. RFID tags cost between 5 and 20 US cents each at bulk rates. Given such high price levels, the tags may not be used for low value items or perishable goods.

Currently the cost of RFID implementation is definitely high in comparison with traditional technologies. The Company believes that the cost of such implementation will come down as more and more companies adopt the technology. This is corroborated with the findings of studies conducted globally. In the Indian Corporate sector increased adoption of the technology by established firms like TELCO and ITC has already had an effect in bringing down the costs.

17. Inadequate assessment of market need

The market in India is at a very nascent stage. The market potential is tremendously high considering the wide array of applications the technology would enable. However, Bartronics has not based its projections on valid research of demand. The projections have been considered using past trend and pertinent industry growth.

In the absence of industry reports and guidelines, the Company has made its own research and projected the industry trends. The Company's experience in the past ten years has provided valuable hands-on information on the direction that the industry is taking and this gives the management confidence that the Company will perform better in the coming years.

18. Inadequate confirmed orders

Bartronics has planned the capital outlay considering the perceived growth in demand for AIDC technologies. However, no confirmed orders of substantial amount have been placed on the Company as of date.

The outlay by the Company is for the efforts required for ensuring a large order book position. The management understands that the business requires significant efforts and based on past experience they believe that the outlay is essential for continued growth of the Company.

19. Any future equity offerings or issue of options under our employee stock option scheme may lead to dilution of your shareholding in the Company.

Purchasers of Equity Shares in this Issue may experience dilution of their shareholding to the extent the Company makes future equity offerings and to the extent additional options are issued under a future employee stock option scheme.

20. In the past 12 months, the Company has issued Equity Shares, which is at a price less than the issue price for the Equity Shares being offered in the issue.

In September 2005 the Company has issued 15,00,000 Equity Shares of Rs.10/- each for cash at a price of Rs.50/- by way of Preferential Allotment.

For further details, please refer to section titled "Capital Structure" beginning on page 10 of the Prospectus.

21. Rescheduling of term loan

The term loan availed by the Company together with funded interest aggregating to Rs.469.11 lakhs was rescheduled by IDBI vide their letter dated 16th April, 2004.

22. Restrictive covenants in the sanction letter from Industrial Development Bank of India Limited.

The loan agreement dated 15th October, 1999 entered into with IDBI for the term loan of Rs.350 lacs contains the following restrictive covenants which effects the interest of Equity shareholders.

- a) IDBI shall have the right to convert ("conversion right") at its option a part or whole of the loan amount into fully paid-up equity shares of the borrower at any time during the currency of the loan
- b) Unless IDBI otherwise agrees, the Company shall not, until the conversion right reserved to IDBI is exercised in full or has lapsed.
 - i) Raise or increase its share capital.
 - ii) Modify in any way the rights attached to its share capital of any class.

 - iv) reduce its share capital or any share premium accounts.
 - v) grant any option to subscribe for shares in its equity capital or any right to convert any obligation into such capital two persons other than the public financial institutions as defined in section 4A of the Companies Act, 1956.
 - vi) Issue any bonus shares by capitalizing its un-distributed profits reserves.
- c) The Company shall not, without the approval of IDBI declare or pay any dividend to any of its shareholders, whether equity or preference, during any financial year unless the borrower has paid to IDBI the installment of principal, interest, costs, charges and other monies payable under this agreement upto and during that year or has made provisions satisfactory to IDBI for making such payment.

Such businesses have been secured through adequate mechanisms like tie-ups with governmental agencies, leading players in each of the countries. Periodic visits by Company personnel to supplement the local marketing efforts also help in understanding the Company's business partners better and review its relationships on a continuous basis.

4. Economic downturn may affect operating performance

There can be no assurance that an active trading market for the Equity Shares will develop or be sustained after this issue, or that the prices at which the Equity Shares are initially traded will correspond to the prices at which the Equity Shares will trade in the market subsequent to this issue.

SECTION III — INTRODUCTION

1. Summary

The Industry

Bartronics is in the Automatic Identification and Data Capture (A.I.D.C) business. A.I.D.C. is the industry term used to describe the identification, and/or direct collection of data into a microprocessor controlled device such as a computer system or a programmable logic controller (PLC), without the use of a keyboard. The technology supports two fundamental requirements v.i.z. eliminating errors associated with identification and/or data collection and accelerating the throughput process. The key application of the technologies is in tracking and traceability of products/articles, product and item identification and sortation, information and dataprocessing, security and access control and inventory management.

The A.I.D.C. technology covers six distinct groups of technologies and services. They are: Card Technologies, Data Communications Technologies, Bar Code Technologies, Radio Frequency Identification Technologies, Emerging Technologies, and the Support and Supplies which serve the industry. This technology can be applied to virtually every sector of industry, commerce and services where data is handled and needs to track and trace individuals, materials & equipment.

The A.I.D.C. Boom: In some quarters it is being talked of as the next 'Killer Application', which will drive the future of Supply Chain Management. The fact that it can leverage past IT investments better through automated data collection and input, has made it receive unprecedented attention. The RFID market is expected to jump from $1.4 billion annually this year to as much as $6.1 billion in 2010, according to a study by research firm Data Monitor. The U.S. Government's growing reliance on R.F.I.D., the acceptance and use of technology by retailers like Wal-Mart proves its success

The Indian Scenario: The Indian market is estimated to be about Rs 100 crores in FY 2005. The market has been growing at an estimated CAGR of over 50% over the past few years and is poised to grow rapidly due to the retail and manufacturing growth in the country. Additionally a majority of the larger companies have already invested in ERP and SCM software that need to be leveraged further. The use of barcode has been made mandatory in several areas of manufacture, retail and exports. For example, the Canteen Stores Department of the Ministry of Defense has embarked upon an ambitious program of automating its depots and retail outlets across the country to monitor and control stocks and sales of an estimated 4,000 different products it supplies and an inventory of over 200,000 items to the Indian armed forces.

The International Scenario: Countries like Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Dubai, Mauritius etc have a thriving Industrial sector, which contributes a significant portion to the G.D.P of their respective countries. With a good number of large, medium and mid-size Industries in both the Public and Private sector these countries are important vendor bases that export a wide variety of goods and services to many developed nations. The AIDC potential is expected to develop strongly in the emerging markets as mentioned above.

SECTION IV — ABOUT THE ISSUER

1. Industry Review

Automatic Identification and Data Capture (AIDC) is the industry term, which describes the identification, and/or direct collection of data into a microprocessor controlled device such as a computer system or a programmable logic controller (PLC), without the use of a keyboard.

At their core, all AIDC technologies support two common goals:

- To eliminate errors associated with identification and/or data collection
- To accelerate the through-put process (the through-put process is the Input to Output process)

As an industry composite, AIDC covers six distinct groups of technologies and services. They are: Card Technologies, Data Communications Technologies, Bar Code Technologies, Radio Frequency Identification Technologies, Emerging Technologies, and the Support and Supplies which serve the industry.

AIDC is now being seen as a radical and revolutionary data carrier and identifier discipline with principles and practices that can be applied virtually to every sector of industry, commerce and services where data is handled and needs to track and trace individuals, materials and equipment. The majority of applications are based on a few generic foundations, as listed below :

- Tracking and Traceability
- Escort Information
- Product and item
- Transaction and services support
- Access control
- Sortation
- Automation support

Booming AIDC Industry

Following the successes of the ERP, CRM and SCM industries over the past few years, AIDC is receiving a good amount of attention as it can leverage past IT investments better through automated data collection and input. In fact a recent AMR Research study concluded that “Dwarfing Y2K and the Internet in the scope and scale of changes it will ring in, RFID is the killer application driving the next ten years of supply chain investment.”

While smart card and bar code technologies continue to find applications, the AIDC industry is moving rapidly towards the use of RFID in a number of high-value and high-volume market segments. The RFID market is expected to jump from $1.4 billion annually this year to as much as $6.1 billion in 2010, according to a recent study by research firm Data Monitor. It is still in a nascent stage but there are several factors, in addition to dropping chip prices, which are driving the growth of RFID as an enabling technology. These include (but are not limited to):

- The US Government's use of RFID to track military shipments (to and from the Persian Gulf, for example) & Wal-Mart's mandate that has asked 138 of its retail suppliers to be RFID-enabled at the case- and pallet- level by January 2005
- The development of standards and standards bodies such as EPC (Electronic Product Code), ISO (International Standards Organization) and ongoing work by the Auto ID Center (www.autoidcenter.org) a joint collaboration between the Uniform Code Council and EAN International)
- Dramatic benefits being achieved by leading consumer packaged goods, retail, manufacturing, logistics, transportation and healthcare companies
- Improvements in RFID technology

Indian Scenario

The Indian market as specifically catered to by Bartronics, estimated at about Rs 100 crores in FY 2005, largely comprises of smart card and bar code solutions. This segment is expected to grow at 20-30% per annum. RFID and biometric solutions are making their presence felt in the current year. The market has been growing at an estimated CAGR of over 50% over the past few years and is poised to grow rapidly due to the retail and manufacturing growth in the country. Additionally a majority of the larger companies have already invested in ERP and SCM software that need to be leveraged further.

Barcode SegmentThe AIDC Technologies Association of India (www.aidcindia.org) has done a lot of work in the field of bar code technology, which is the precursor to RFID solutions. India is already a signatory to the EAN UCC System that enables automatic capture of vital data across the supply chain from raw material to warehousing to distribution to final retailing. The industry expects that the Walmart mandate combined with a number of other chains (Metro, Tesco, etc) will force Indian suppliers to set up confirming systems.

In India, the use of barcode has been mandatory in several areas of manufacture, retail and exports. For example, the Canteen Stores Department of the Ministry of Defence has embarked upon an ambitious program of automating its depots and retail outlets across the country to monitor and control stocks and sales of an estimated 4,000 different products it supplies and an inventory of over 200,000 items to the Indian armed forces.

Smart Card segment

Over the last few years, the awareness of smart cards and its applications have gradually increased among the potential users in India. Significant growth has taken place in wireless cellular applications, retail loyalty applications, healthcare applications and vehicle registration applications. Several pilot projects have also been implemented for multi-application campus cards, banking, ID, automatic fare collection, toll, healthcare, etc. Though the SIM card market has driven the growth in the last 5 years, the rate of growth in banking and retail sector is expected to be larger in the coming years. The usage in transport and health care sectors is also expected to increase. However, the industry is looking at the government usage and the much-touted national ID project for a spiralling growth in the next few years.

Biometrics

As both the private and Government sector organisations search for more secure authentication methods, they have increasingly become aware of biometrics as the killer technology for near foolproof security. It may not be long before all password and card based systems currently in vogue get replaced with biometric devices. While there is a growing demand for both physiological and behavioural biometrics devices, fingerprint recognition is the current hot favourite. However, lack of infrastructure and standardisation in the industry, high costs and duties are the impediments in the growth of the industry. Most of the biometrics hardware is being imported from USA, Germany, Israel and in recent times from China. Indian manufacturers are also getting into the act with some fingerprint scanners now being made available in the market.

Competitive Landscape

The competitive landscape for Bartronics' solutions is largely marked by players who are either trading in Hardware or software system integrators. Large players in the industry include Essae Technology, Great Eastern Impex, Intellicon and Stallion. Bartronics' differentiates itself by being a total solution provider and hence has a list of impressive clientele in the Indian Market. This is the reason why every major company in India like ITC, HLL, TISCO, TELCO, ISPAT etc. has been served by Bartronics during the past few years. The second differentiating factor is the nation-wide sales and service network. The branches and sales offices of the company ensure that the Bartronics' engineers are always "on-hand" to provide solutions in case there are problems at customer locations.

Probably the most important differentiating factor in favour of Bartronics' is its skilled service engineers. Apart from being technically qualified, the company has ensured through a structured training programme that its engineers are continuously updated on the latest developments in the relevant technologies. Many of the engineers are specially trained by the company's principals. In fact, Intermec Corporation, USA awarded Bartronics' with a Gold Medallion Programme Certificate which certifies Bartronics' engineers to service and repair any product supplied by Intermec Corporation. Apart from this recognition, Bartronics' After Sales Service Function has been certified for ISO 9002 which in turn means that the company's processes have been standardised and are capable of delivering quality results consistently.

2. Business Overview

Incorporated in 1990 as a Private Limited Company and converted to a Public Limited Company in 1995, Bartronics entered a large way in developing and marketing bar codes and leveraged on the opportunity the business provided. From the bar coding segment, the Company forayed into other areas of the AIDC technology viz. Biometrics and RFID and is today a total solution provider. The Company is an expert in system integration for Barcode solutions, which has applications in areas such as inventory management, attendance recording, dispatch management etc.

With the advent of the RFID revolution, the Company diversified into the same for further growth prospects. RFID is a technology that holds tremendous potential and Bartronics is certainly in a position to leverage on its expertise; this being its core area.

Wide Local Presence

The Company operates all across the country through its offices and Regional centres located at Hyderabad, Chennai, Coimbatore, Bangalore, Delhi, Jamshedpur, and Pune. These offices are manned by sales personnel and service engineers. The nation-wide offices ensure proximity to the Company's customer-base thereby ensuring that the needs of the customers are addressed promptly. The service engineers stationed in these offices ensure minimum break-down time in case the solutions provided by the Company cause any problems to the customers' critical business processes. In addition to the Company's own branch offices in the above locations, the Company also has dealer setups at Nagpur, Aurangabad, Mumbai and Visakhapatnam. Each dealer setup has trained engineers who provide the necessary critical support to the customers catered to by the respective dealer.

In order to further consolidate its national coverage, the Company intends opening offices in every major city across the country with an objective to have a full-fledged presence in every state.

To put the technology in the perspective, Automatic Identification and Data Capture (AIDC) is the industry term, which describes the identification, and/or direct collection of data into a microprocessor controlled device such as a computer system or programmable logic controller without the use of a keyboard. AIDC is a family of technologies for the unique identification of physical objects by automated processes. These technologies have been designed to bridge the gap between entities in the real world and computer databases that describe them. AIDC endows a computer system with a set of eyes that can uniquely identify any object that is appropriately tagged. Computer algorithms designed to improve efficiency can then work with direct and immediate knowledge of the environment, rather than process statistical information collected by hand at a prior date.

As an industry family, AIDC covers six distinct groups of technologies and services viz. Card Technologies, Data Communications Technologies, Bar Code Technologies, Radio Frequency Identification Technologies, Emerging Technologies and the Support and Supplies which serve the industry.

At their core, all AIDC technologies support two common goals:

- To eliminate errors associated with identification and/or data collection
- To accelerate the through-put process (the through-put process is the Input to Output process)

Barcoding technologies are used to identify products. More recent innovations, such as magnetic stripe cards and contact smart cards, are typically used to identify consumers rather than products. Currently in development are radio frequency identification (RFID) technologies, which have shown promise as an advanced method of identifying both products and people with minimum labour.

The Technology The technology known in Industrial Terms as Automatic Identification and Data Capture (AIDC) describes the identification, and/or direct collection of data into a microprocessor controlled device such as a computer system or a programmable logic controller (PLC) without the use of a keyboard.

The company offers consulting services and provides solutions pertaining to diverse range of AIDC technologies - Barcode, Biometrics, RFID, Radio Frequency Data Communication (RFDC) and Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS).

At their core, all AIDC technologies support two common goals viz., a) To eliminate errors associated with identification and/or data collection and, b) To accelerate the throughput process. Discussed hereunder are some of the technologies in a nutshell.

Barcode is perhaps the oldest of the AIDC technologies. A barcode is a message that holds information. The structure of the barcode consists of the height and the width. Information is encoded into spaces and bars of various widths. Barcodes can be produced easily and inexpensively.

Biometrics: Biometric technologies are defined as “automated methods of verifying or recognizing the identity of a living person based on a physiological or behavioral characteristic”. Some of the biometrics technologies used are: fingerprint identification, iris identification, retinal identification, hand geometry, hand, palm, voice identification, facial feature identification, body salinity (salt) identification and ear identification.

RFID: RFID tags are essentially pieces of circuitry available in various formats (embedded in labels or as a wide variety of plastic tags), which contain a database record of information. Depending on design, they can be read from and/or written to without the need of line of sight. In general terms, Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) is a means of identifying a person or object using a radio frequency transmission, typically 125 kHz, 13.56 MHz or 800-900MHz. The AIDC (Automatic Identification Data Capture) industry is moving rapidly towards the use of RFID in a number of high-value and high-volume market segments.

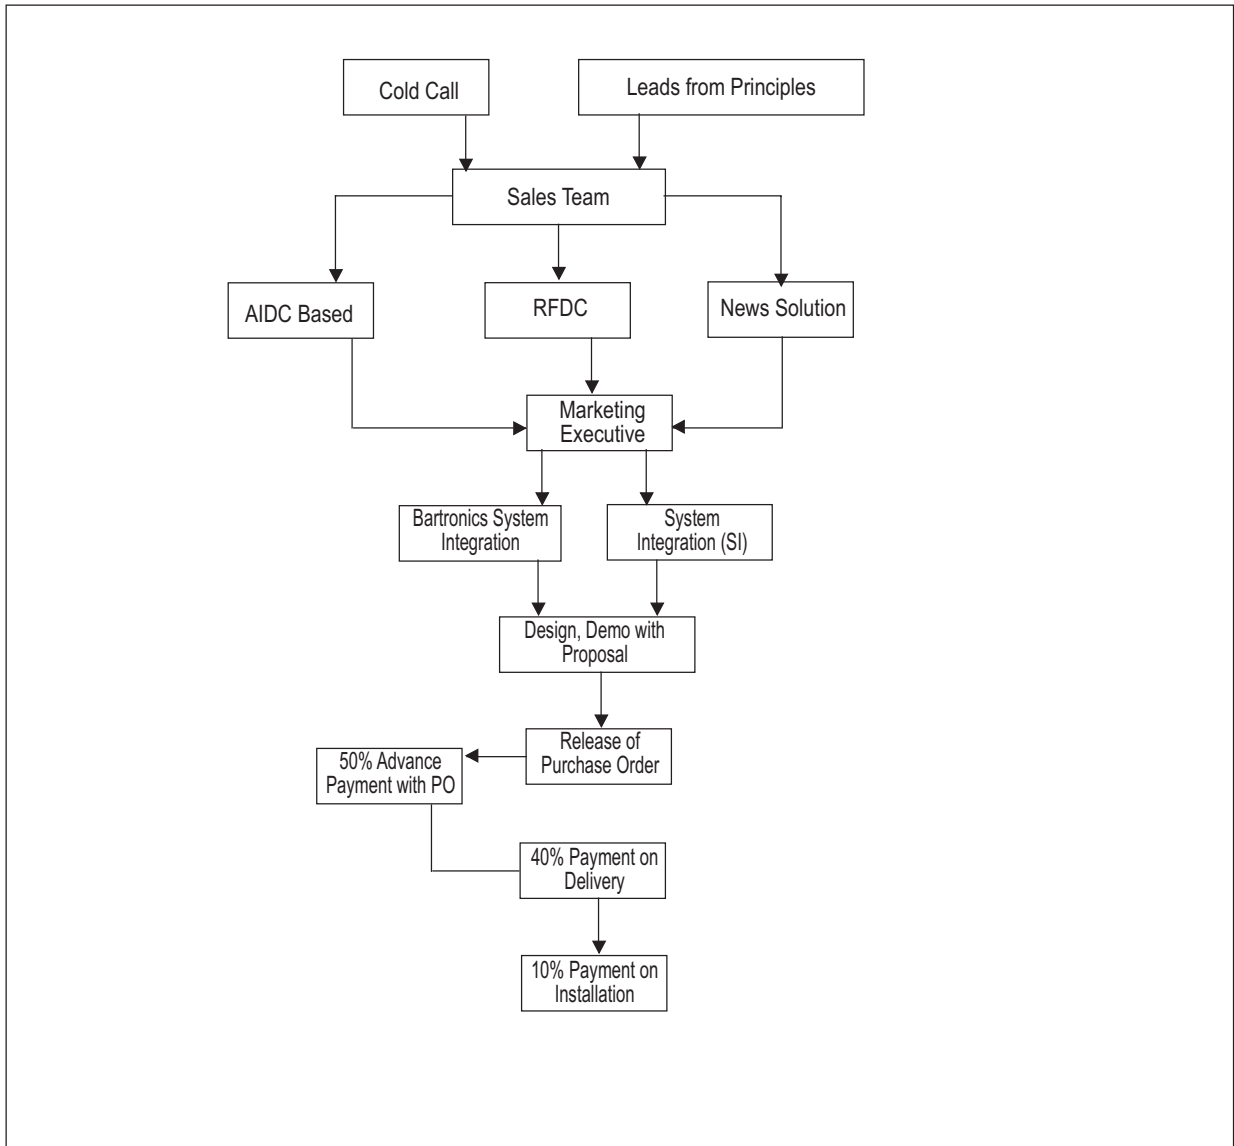

Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS): Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS) is a technology used to identify items as they pass through a gated area. Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS) is a form of electronic theft protection used by retailers, corporations, hospitals, and others. The technology functions on the same basic principle: a transmitter sends a signal at defined frequencies to create an electromagnetic field (EMF) that functions as a surveillance area. This field operates usually between two pedestals placed at the exit of a store or building. Upon entering this area, a security tag or label that has not been removed or deactivated creates a signal in the electromagnetic field, which is detected by a companion receiver. An alarm sounds when the signal is detected.

RFDC: Radio Frequency Data Communications (RFDC) is exactly what the name suggests: the use of radio waves to communicate data from one location to another. It involves a chip with an antenna that when activated by a reader can send or receive information. Radio Frequency Data communications is a technology that uses radio frequency (RF) waves instead of wires to transmit information, allowing real-time portability

The technology is applied in the areas like Tracking and Traceability; Escort information; Product and item identification; Transaction and services support; Access control; Sortation and Automation support. Thus this is certified as a tool that would improve productivity. Development Centre would focus on various prototypes and highlight various areas of applications that would embed AIDC/RFID technology

Business Process Flow Overview

Business Process Flow of Order Execution for AIDC and Retails Divisions - Route 1

Business Process Flow of Order Execution for AIDC and Retails Divisions - Route 2

Products

The products and the services are categorized under 3 segments viz., AIDC Division, RFID Division and Retail Division

● AUTOMATIC IDENTIFICATION AND DATA COLLECTION (AIDC) Division

Automatic identification and data collection (AIDC) is the generic term for a number of technologies that bypass manual methods of data collection and data entry, thereby eliminating human error and significantly reducing time and labor.

Some additional technologies that share the ability to bypass human intervention or that provide improved system operation are also often included when talking about AIDC.

AIDC is known by many terms including: Keyless Data Entry, Automatic Identification, Auto ID, Machine Readable Codes (MRC).

Benefits

AIDC technologies eliminate manual entry of data, thereby eliminating the associated errors, time, and costs (of both manual entry and errors). These benefits can be seen in different ways in different companies and applications. In general, however, a well-designed AIDC system offers both direct and indirect benefits including:

- Increased accuracy
- Increased speed
- Reduced cost
- Reduced inventories
- Reduced (or eliminated) cycle counting
- Improved quality
- Increase productivity
- Increased data collection
- Improved responsiveness
- Simplified documentation

The solutions offered by the division span across the entire gamut of a manufacturing organisation. These include automation of time and attendance of employees, monitoring their canteen and on-campus activities, keeping track of work-in-process and inventories, distribution and sales tracking. Over the years, the division has established itself to become the number one provider of automation solutions to the Indian manufacturing sector having more than 1000 customers spread throughout the country. The technologies currently being employed for providing these solutions are:

- Biometrics

Biometric systems use physical characteristics for identification. A finger print, voice print, retinal pattern, even DNA signatures are being used to provide automatic, and secure, identification of an individual. For areas where high security is required, biometrics is certainly the answer. The Company has successfully implemented biometric systems at Tirupati and Vaishnav Devi for crowd management application. In addition, the biometric enabled terminals provided by the company are used by many organisations to keep track of employees' attendance and other activities. Such terminals eliminate typical problems like impersonation, disputes etc.

- Bar Codes And 2d Symbols

Bar codes, such as the familiar U.P.C. symbol used for point-of-sale, are physical marks arranged in a "linear" manner of dark and light "bars" (hence the term "bar" code). Bar codes are designed to provide reliable encodation of limited amounts of data (typically 30 characters maximum). These are used in variety of applications including item identification in spare parts management, inventory management and super markets check out counters. The company has standardised its solution for the manufacturing sector based on its past experience and is now capable of deploying such solutions within a very short period of time.

- Vision Systems

Machine vision systems use cameras to view an area and interpret symbols or shapes. Machine vision systems are typically used to inspect goods during manufacturing or packaging. Such technology is used in a production line where goods are continuously moving on conveyor belts etc and there is a need to quickly conduct a quality check and ensure that the end product meets specific quality parameters.

- RADIO FREQUENCY IDENTIFICATION (RFID) Division

Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) uses special data carriers, or tags, to hold data. Readers use RF signals to communicate with the tags. Generally, range, data transfer rate (DTR), and the dampening effects of overlying materials increase with frequency. Absorption of signals by metal decreases with frequency.

RFID systems are currently being used for:

- Electronic article surveillance (EAS)
- Intermodal container identification
- Rail and truck rolling stock identification

- Animal (livestock and domestic) identification
- Automated livestock feeding stations
- Flexible manufacturing (tracking and control)
- Cutting tool identification
- Cutting tool identification
- Asset identification
- Laundry tracking
- Vehicle identification / access control
- Automated debit or credit cards (gasoline),
- Automated toll collection
- Personnel identification / access control.

The advantages of RFID Technology are:

- Read/write capabilities or permanent (non-erasable) ID
- Non-contact, non-line-of-sight reading
- Virtual immunity from obscuring paint, dirt, grease, etc., (depending on frequency)
- Automatic operation
- Low cost-per-use
- Wide range of tag options
- Range to 100 feet
- Reading speeds to 60 mph
- Extremely high data integrity
- Extremely difficult to counterfeit.

Popular RFID Applications are:

- Vehicle Tracking & Identification
- Warehouse Management
- Factory Automation
- Industrial Waste Management
- Long Range Access
- Control High Speed Rail Identification
- Locating sub-assembly parts in a manufacturing process
- Cross-system associations between employee access control cards and employee-assigned physical assets
- Easy location of classified documents that have been left out overnight
- Security tracking of newborn infants while at the hospital
- Authentication of product brand against counterfeit articles
- Automatic capture of time and attendance during shift changes as employees pass freely in and out of plant gates
- Reconciliation of passenger luggage with passenger as they step on a plane.

TOUCH SCREENS - PEN-BASED TECHNOLOGY

Both touch screens and pen-based systems use the same basic technology. A sensitive screen is used instead of a mouse, keyboard or other entry device. In a data collection environment, touch and pen-based systems are best used for selection of pre-programmed information.

Touch is a “natural” interface. In public applications, users have little training in the technology and are simply instructed to “touch your selection.” Pen-based systems may also incorporate character recognition capabilities and signature capture.

Retail Division

Retailing today is much more than simple buying of goods from the supplier and selling it to the consumer. Some important functions of retailing like Stock maintenance, Tracking product sales, and Supplier and Customer transactions have become much complicated than before. Modern technology tools in retail like Point of Sale Systems, Kiosks, Touch screens, EDI, Bar-coding, security systems like CCTVs, RFID etc have the ability to improve and make more efficient each function of the retail. All the core processes of retail i.e storing operations, merchandise management, planning and forecasting, inventory control need advanced applications of IT for smooth functioning.

The company’s focus so far has been in providing Point-of-Sale (POS) system to the exploding number of retail malls and super stores coming up all over the country. Due to the price and quality advantage of the company’s solution, increasing number of retail chains are now opting for the company’s solution. The division has plans to extend its product range to Electronic Cash Registers and other variations of POS thereby addressing a very large chunk of the Indian Retail market which is forced to automate its processes due to the introduction of the VAT regime.

Some of the projects as implemented by Bartronics India Limited for the Corporates:

WHIRLPOOL

The company has implemented two projects for Whirlpool, one of the leading Companies in home appliances in India. The Projects named Production Tracking and Warehouse & Dispatch management have been designed for Whirlpool at Pune and Pondichery.

The Objective of this project is to track every product manufactured by the company and to ensure that the rejected goods at QC level should not be dispatched to finished goods stores.

The process for the above-mentioned project is as under:

Production Tracking: At the start of the manufacturing of Product, a barcode will be generated and stuck to the same; this barcode is used at each level while manufacturing the product. Once the product is ready, then it is sent to the Warehouse for dispatch. The software is developed in Power Builder as front end and SQL server as backend to store the data.

Dispatch: In Dispatch process while dispatching the products the barcode is scanned and the data is validated and the same is updated in the database as dispatched.

Stores: With the help of Hand Held Terminals the products are scanned in the stores and the data is updated to the Server to check the stock position in the stores and in the warehouse

Process Flow

TATA STEEL

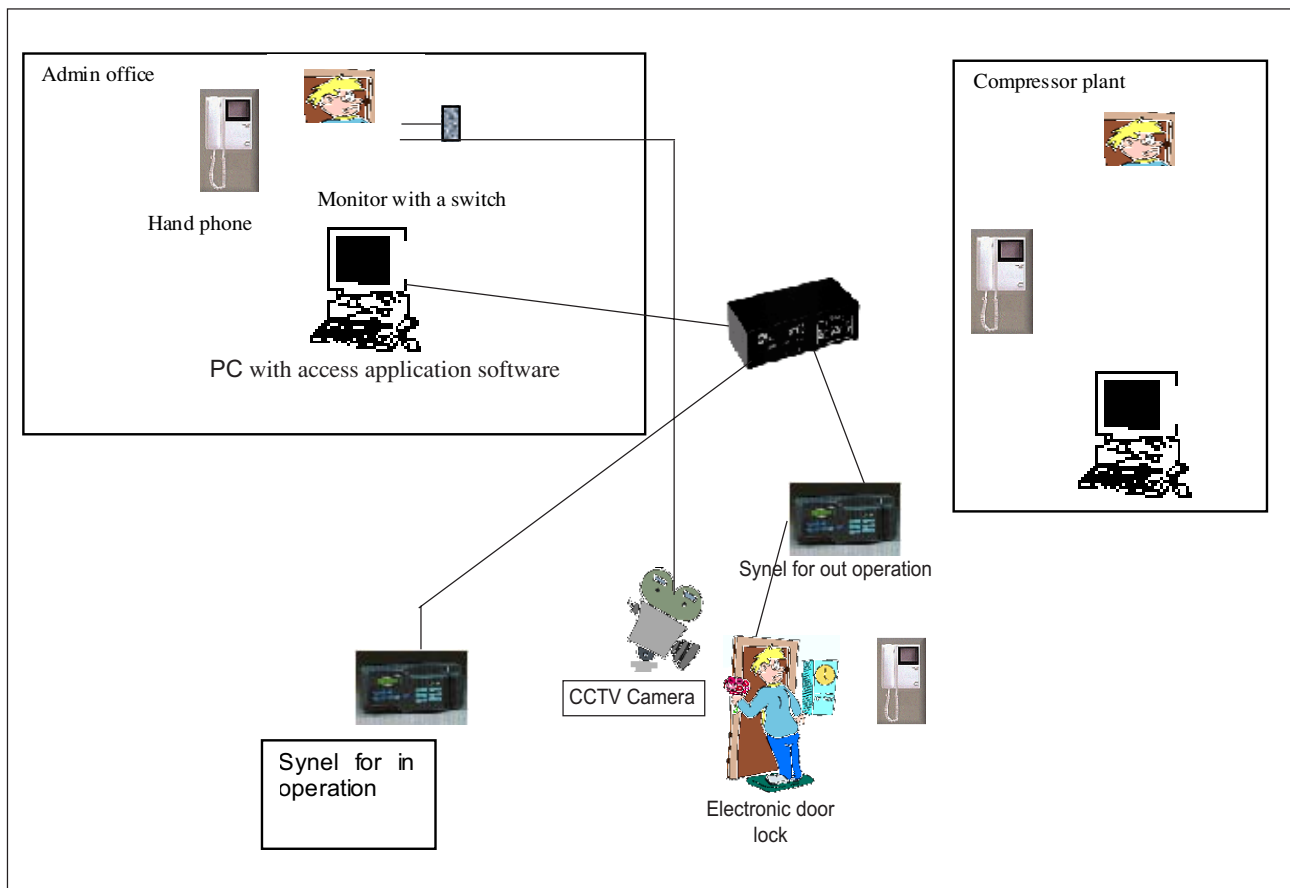

BIL designed an Access Control System for Tata Steel. The objective of this project is to monitor each and every entry in the Industrial Gas Division. The worth of the order executed was Rs.65 Lacs

Solution Implemented

The administration office and the compressor plant in the Industrial Gas Division premises are to be monitored for access control. If the person is authorized to enter the premises he is given an authorized bar coded card, which he swipes in the SY-125 data collection terminal and after validation the electronic door lock is opened for him/her and thus he/she enters the premises.

If a visitor or other person who does not have a card to swipe has to enter the premises picks the door phone fixed to the wall next to the door and press the button on it, as soon as it is connected to the administration office the person reveals his identity and at the same time, one can see his image in the monitor, which is connected to the CCTV camera fixed at the door. After identifying the person admin office opens the door lock by pressing a key. The same is applied for out operation.

The key benefits are effective access control in Industrial Gas Division premises and entry and exit of each person is monitored.

Some more projects as implemented or under implementation by Bartronics India Limited:

Vaishno Devi

M/s Bartronics India Limited is undertaking the Computerisation of Yatra Management System and other Yatra related activities alongwith setting up of Registration Counters in different cities for Advance Registration of Yatra to the Shri Mata Vaishno Devi Shrine (Katra)

Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanam

M/s Bartronics India Limited is undertaking the work of operations and maintenance of Sudarshanam scheme at T.T. Devasthanam, Tirupati. To counter the strain on infrastructure and to increase the comfort level of pilgrims, the T.T.D. Board adopted the ‘Sudarshan Token Scheme’ which specified the date and the exact time the pilgrim could present himself at the main entry point to the temple, thus eliminating the long waiting period. The wristband provided as part of the system was found to be non-biodegradable and the used bands got accumulated in large quantities thus posing an environmental challenge to the authorities concerned.

The T.T.D. Management in association with Bartronics , has recently introduced a Biometric based system which uses finger print recognition and photo identification for verification, thus doing away with the need for wristbands. This system has eliminated many problems faced by the T.T.D. Management and is providing immense convenience to pilgrims.

1) Total Income

The operations of the company recorded a growth rate of 51% when compared to year 2002-03. During the year 2003-04 - in addition to the AIDC business - the company focused in to Biometrics activity as well. The company has also been focusing at R&D to be inline with Industry requirements. The concept of AIDC and Biometric technology established by the company at Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanam has brought in e-darshan concepts as an effective time management tool for the benefit of one and all. During 2003-04 - Gati, Endurance, Trinethra Super Markets, Mihira Networks, Fabmall, Mahindra & Mahindra, Satyam Computers are added in to the Customer List.

2) Raw Material & Goods Consumed

The consumption patterns witnessed a down trend on account of increased margins in the sales and also increased focus at newer Technologies like Biometrics etc.. The Raw material costs to turnover ratio has come down to 58% during 2003-04 from 65%.for the year 2002-03. The absolute increase is 36% (i.e., from Rs.540 lacs for the year 2002-03 to Rs.735 lacs for the year 2003-04)

3) Staff Cost

The Company's staff costs for the period 2003-04 remained more or less at same level when compared to 2002-03. As a result of improvement in the Turnover levels the percentage of staff cost has come down to 7% in 2003-04 from that of 10% in 2002-03

4) Administrative and Selling Expenses

The substantial growth of company's business with out any substantial increase in the infrastructure costs in the fiscal helped us to control this spent to 8.67% of Turnover for 2003-04 from 10.95% of 2002-03. The expenditure in absolute terms has gone up to 109 lacs from 91 lacs due to establishment of Branch at New Delhi

5) Finance Expense

During the period, the company's financial expenses increased by Rs 40.83 lacs or 89%, largely due to increased borrowing to finance our working capital requirements. With the growth in turnover our increased working capital requirement was met through increase in bank finance and through back to back credit from the suppliers. The reduction in the IDBI interest rate from 17% to 12% during the last quarter of the year has marginally off set the over all increase in Finance costs.

6) EBITDA

Earning Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation (EBITDA) for the fiscal year 2003-04 was Rs 325 Lacs, which increased by 178% in comparison to the previous year. The EBITDA margin improved during this period due to overall reduction in the Costs.

7) Depreciation

During the year 2003-04 the Depreciation has gone down by 30% (From Rs.36 lacs for 2002-03 to Rs.25 lacs for 2003-04) due to change in methodology from WDV to Straight Line Method.

8) Income Tax

The provision for tax for the Financial year 2003-04 increased to Rs 50 Lacs from Rs 3 Lacs for the Financial year 2002-03. The increase was on account of taxing the company's profits at regular rates due to lesser claims for set off under Income Tax Act.

9) PAT

PAT for the period touched at Rs.135 lacs in 2003-04 from Rs 13.59 Lacs for the year 2002-03.

VI. Comparison of Fiscal 2003-04 with Fiscal 2004-05

10) TOTAL INCOME

During 2004-05 the growth rate recorded is 44%. The company identified the changing scenario of Bar Code Industry and established business plans in the areas of RFID & Biometric Technology. The establishment of 100% EOU during 2004-05 under the ambit of STPI is a major shift in the focus of the company. The STPI recorded an Export Turnover of Rs.279 lacs (equ.to USD 617 K) . The Exports lead to new business initiatives such as establishment of overseas Branches - particularly in Malaysia and Dubai

During 2004-05 with its entry in to Exports the company has added Overseas customers to its list viz., Infokall Malaysia Sdn.. On Domestic front - Ashok Leyland, Satyam, Greaves Cotton, Pantaloon , HP, IBM, Videocon, Trident Industries are the new customer members of Bartronics family.

Other Income in the fiscal year 2004-05 improved to Rs.11 Lacs from the negligible levels in the earlier years due to the new stream of revenue viz., external Invoicing. Thus the other income form part of 0.64% total Turnover for the year 2004-05 from that of 0.04% for the year 2003-04

11) RAW MATERIAL CONSUMED

The trends increased marginally to 61% of the Turnover in 2004-05 when compared with 58% of the Turnover for the year 2003-04. This increase is attributable to the arrest of down trend in the USD rate in the year 2004-05 when compared with 2003-04 and the general escalatory trends. The over all spent has gone up by 52% (From Rs.735 lacs to Rs.1118 lacs)

12) STAFF COST

The staff cost was in down trend for the year 2004-05 (6.35% of the Turnover for 2004-05) than that of 2003-04 (7.05% for 2003-04). However- due to increase in volumes the over all amount has gone up by 30% (From that of Rs.89 lacs in 2003-04 to Rs.115 lacs in 2004-05). As the company continued to expand, we increased our recruitment of personnel at various locations across the country to cater the service branches nationwide. 100% EOU has also accounted for increase in man Power cost.

13) Administrative and Selling Expenses

In comparison to the fiscal year 2003-04, the expenses under this head increased by 6%. The rise was on account of increased business activity, which required increased domestic and overseas travel by the company's executives and sales personnel. However- the over all percentage to turnover has seen a down trend (From 8.67% for the year 2003-04 to 6.39% for the year 2004-05)

14) FINANCE EXPENSES

During the year the company undertook enhancement of working capital limits and the average monthly utilization of the Working capital facilities has gone up by almost 100%. Resultantly the interest costs have gone up by 25% to Rs.108 lacs for the year 2004-05 from Rs.87 lacs for the year 2003-04. The settlement of differential interest on account of reduction in Interest rate also contributed to the increase in finance costs.

15) EBITDA

Earning Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation (EBITDA) for the year 2004-05 remained at same level as a percentage to Turnover . However- in absolute terms the same has gone up by 43% (i.e., from Rs.325 lacs for 2003-04 to Rs.468 lacs for 2004-05). Our EBITDA increased due to 100% EOU unit activities during the year 2004-05.

16) DEPRECIATION

Depreciation increased by Rs. 59 lacs (i.e., nearly a 3 fold increase) from Rs.25 lacs in 2003-04 to Rs. 83 lacs in 2004-05. The higher depreciation was due to increased Capex in the EOU unit and on Domestic front as well to the tune of Rs.166 lacs.

17) INCOME TAX

Since the Company is entitled for exemption of Export profits from the purview of Income tax in terms of 100% EOU status our provision for tax was limited to Rs. 35.50 lacs including that of Deferred taxation provision Rs.21 lacs.

18) PAT

PAT for the period increased by 77% in 2004-05 to Rs.240 lacs from Rs. 135 lacs in 2003-04

The regulations of Government on Foreign Direct Investment in the retail segment and the mandatory guidelines already in force for the adoption of Bar Code technology will have positive impact on the future income levels of the company.

Known trends or uncertainties that have had or are expected to have a material adverse impact on sales, revenue or income from continuing operations

There are no known trends or uncertainties that have or are expected to have an adverse impact on sales except for national calamities like war, terrorist attacks etc.

Future changes in relationship between costs and revenues, in case of events such as future increase in labour or material costs or prices that will cause a material change are known

Since majority of the Hardware components are to be imported, the Foreign Exchange Fluctuations might influence the procurement costs. However, as the procurement lead time is normally less than three months, there is enough space for taking the precautionary measures. The Labour cost is sensitive from sales and marketing point of view. Similarly, business promotion costs will also influence the revenues. This necessitates extra selling and distribution costs in the form of incentives given to the marketing workforce.

The extent to which material increases in net sales or revenue are due to increased sales volume, introduction of new products or services or increased sales prices

During the year 2004-05, Software Development wing has been strengthened so as to focus at customised Software Exports which has contributed to the extent of Rs.270 lacs.

Status of any publicly announced new products or business segment

Effective from the year 2005-06 the operations are vertically bifurcated in to AIDC Division, RFID Division and Retail Division. New products such as Point of Sale systems and Electronic cash Registers are being planned to cater to the Retail IT segment. While RFID Division will focus at high end Bar code solutions, AIDC aims at catering to new entrants in the Bar Code Technology.

Method of Proportionate Basis of Allotment for QIBs, Retail, Employees and Non-Institutional Categories

In the event of the Issue being over-subscribed, the basis of allotment to Retail and Non Institutional Bidders shall be finalized by the company, in consultation with the Designated Stock Exchange. The Executive Director or Managing Director (or any other senior official nominated by them) of the Designated Stock Exchange along with the BRLMs and the Registrar to the Issue shall be responsible for ensuring that the basis of allotment is finalized in a fair and proper manner. The allocation shall be made in multiples of one share, on a proportionate basis as explained below subject to minimum allocation being equal to the 90 Equity Shares.

- a. The subscription in each category will be computed separately.
- b. Bids which are eligible for proportionate allotment as provided in the SEBI (DIP) Guidelines, 2000, shall be those which have applied for minimum shares arrived at by multiplying the minimum shares to be allotted by the number of times, the category is subscribed. Allotment to such bidders will be calculated as shares applied for divided by the number of times the category is subscribed.
- c. If the proportionate allotment to a Bidder is a number that is more than minimum allotment lot but is not a multiple of one (which is the marketable lot), the decimal would be rounded off to the higher whole number if that decimal is 0.5 or higher. If that number is lower than 0.5, it would be rounded off to the lower whole number. All Bidders in such categories would be allotted Equity Shares arrived at after such rounding off.
- d. The balance of the bids will be those, which will not be directly entitled for allotment of minimum shares. Such bidders will be allotted shares by a drawal of lots in a fair manner to ensure that each successful bidder (determined by drawal of lot) gets the minimum number of shares to be allotted.
- e. If the Equity Shares allocated on a proportionate basis to any category are more than the Equity Shares allotted to the Bidders in that category, the remaining Equity Shares available for allotment shall be first adjusted against any other category, where the allotted shares are not sufficient for proportionate allotment to the successful Bidders in that category. The balance Equity Shares, if any, remaining after such adjustment will be added to the category comprising Bidders applying for minimum number of Equity Shares.

Restrictions on Foreign Ownership of Indian Securities

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the industrial policy of Government of India, or the Industrial Policy and FEMA. While the Industrial Policy prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of Indian economy to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. The government bodies responsible for granting foreign investment approvals are the Foreign Investment Promotion Board of the Government of India ("FIPB") and the RBI. Under present regulations, the maximum permissible FII investment in our Company is restricted to 24% of our total issued capital. This can be raised to 100% by adoption of a Board resolution and special resolution by our shareholders; however, as of the date hereof, no such resolution has been recommended to Board or our shareholders for adoption.

By way of Circular No. 53 dated December 17, 2003, the RBI has permitted FIIs to subscribe to shares of an Indian company in a public Issue without prior RBI approval, so long as the price of Equity Shares to be issued is not less than the price at which Equity Shares are issued to residents.

The transfer of Equity Shares of NRIs, FIIs, and Foreign Venture Capital Investors registered with SEBI and Multilateral and Bilateral Development Financial institutions shall be subject to the conditions as may be prescribed by the Government of India or RBI while granting such approvals.

SECTION IX: DESCRIPTION OF EQUITY SHARES AND TERMS OF THE ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATIONDescription of Equity Shares

Described below is the material information concerning our share capital and a brief summary of the material provisions of the Companies Act, or Companies Act, and our charter documents. Certain provisions will be applicable upon our Equity Shares being listed on the Stock Exchanges. The following description is not complete and should be read in conjunction with our Memorandum of Association and our Articles of Association, and the relevant provisions of the Companies Act.

General

Our authorized share capital is Rs. 17,00,00,000 divided into 1,70,00,000 equity shares, each with par value of Rs. 10. The equity shares are the only class of share capital of the Company. However, our Articles and the Companies Act permit us to issue classes of securities other than equity shares. For the purposes of the Red Herring Prospectus, "shareholder" means a shareholder who is registered as a member in the register of members of our Company.

Dividends

Under the Companies Act, unless the Company's board of directors, or the Board, recommends the payment of a dividend, we may not declare a dividend. Furthermore, the shareholders of the Company at a general shareholders meeting may declare a dividend lower than, but not higher than the dividend recommended by our Board. Furthermore, such dividend shall be declared or paid by us only out of our profits for that year arrived at after providing for depreciation in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Companies Act, or out of profits of the Company for any previous financial year(s), after providing for depreciation, and which remain undistributed, or out of both. Similarly, under our Articles, although the shareholders may, at the annual general meeting, approve a dividend in an amount less than that recommended by the Board, they cannot increase the amount of the dividend. In India, dividends generally are declared as a percentage of the par value of a company's equity shares subject to the limitations described above. The dividend recommended by the Board and approved by our shareholders is distributed and paid to shareholders in proportion to the paid up value of their shares within thirty (30) days of such approval by the shareholders at the annual general meeting. Apart from paying interim dividends, which the board may do at their discretion, where the company's profit warrant such payment before the holding of the annual general meeting, a final dividend for any financial year can be declared and paid only when the balance sheet and profit and loss account are presented to the shareholders at the annual general meeting, and the shareholders after consideration of the amount recommended by the board approve the same, or such lesser amount as may appear to them to be reasonable. Pursuant to our Articles, The Board may from time to time pay to the Members such interim dividends as appear to it to be justified by the profits of the Company. Under the Companies Act, dividends can only be paid in cash to the registered shareholder at a record date fixed on or prior to the annual general meeting or to their order or their banker's order. The Companies Act provides that any dividends that remain unpaid or unclaimed after the 30-day period following the annual general meeting at which such dividend is declared are to be transferred to a special bank account and any dividends that remain unclaimed and unpaid for seven years from the date of such transfer is transferred to a fund created by the Indian government. No claims for the payment of unpaid or unclaimed dividends have been made against us. Under the Companies Act, dividends may be paid out of profits of a company in the year in which the dividend is declared or out of the undistributed profits of previous fiscal years. Before declaring a dividend greater than 10% of the par value of its equity shares, a company is required under the Companies Act and Companies (Transfer of Profits to Reserves) Rules, 1975 to transfer to its reserves a minimum percentage of its profits for that year, ranging from 2.5% to 10% depending upon the dividend percentage to be declared in such year. The Companies Act read with the Companies (Declaration of Dividend out of Reserves) Rules, 1975 further provides that, in the event of an inadequacy or absence of profits in any year, a dividend may be declared for such year out of the company's accumulated profits, subject to the following conditions:

- (i) the rate of dividend to be declared may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the company's paid up capital, or the average of the rate at which dividends were declared by the company in the prior five years, whichever is less;
- (ii) the total amount to be drawn from the accumulated profits earned in the previous years and transferred to the reserves may not exceed an amount equivalent to ten percent (10%) of the company's paid up capital and free reserves, provided the amount so drawn is used first to set off the losses incurred in the fiscal year before any dividends in respect of preference or equity shares are declared; and

- (iii) the balance of reserves after withdrawals shall not fall below fifteen percent (15%) of the company's paid up capital.

Annual General Meetings of Shareholders

We must convene an annual general meeting of shareholders within fifteen months after the date of the previous annual general meeting or 6 months from the end of each financial year, whichever is earlier, and may convene an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders when necessary or at the request of a shareholder or shareholders holding at least ten percent (10%) of our paid up capital carrying voting rights. Our secretary pursuant to a resolution of the Board generally convenes the annual general meeting of the shareholders. Written notice setting out the agenda of the meeting must be given at least twenty-one (21) days, excluding the days of mailing and date of the meeting, prior to the date of the general meeting to the shareholders of record. Shareholders who are registered as shareholders on the date of the general meeting are entitled to attend or vote at such meeting. The annual general meeting of shareholders must be held at our registered office, or at such other place, within the city in which the registered office is located as the Board may decide to be the venue of the meeting. Meetings other than the annual general meeting may be held at any other place if so determined by our Board. Our registered office is located at 5-9-22/B/404, My Home Sarovar, Secretariat Road, Hyderabad - 500004.

The Company's Articles provide that five (5), members present in person shall be a quorum.

Voting Rights

At any general meeting, voting is by show of hands unless a poll is demanded by a shareholder or shareholders present in person or by proxy holding at least ten percent (10%) of the total shares entitled to vote on the resolution, or by those holding shares with an aggregate paid up capital of at least fifty thousand Indian rupees (Rs. 50,000). A poll may also be ordered by the chairman of the meeting of his own motion. Upon a show of hands, every shareholder entitled to vote and present in person has one vote and, on a poll, every shareholder entitled to vote and present in person or by proxy has voting rights in proportion to the paid up capital held by such shareholders. In the case of partly paid up shares, the company may make calls on its shareholders at various times for payment of the remaining unpaid amounts and such calls have to be paid by the shareholders in cash. There may be restrictions on exercise of voting right in case of shareholders who have not paid their calls on partly paid-up shares. Any shareholder may appoint another person (whether a shareholder or not) as his proxy. The instrument appointing a proxy must be delivered to the company at least forty-eight (48) hours prior to the meeting. A proxy may not vote except on a poll. A corporate shareholder may appoint an authorized representative who can vote on behalf of the shareholder, both upon a show of hands and upon a poll. Ordinary resolutions may be passed by simple majority of those present and voting at any general meeting for which the required period of notice has been given. However, special resolutions are required for major matters such as amendments to Company's Articles or the Memorandum, commencement of a new line of business, the waiver of preemptive rights for the issuance of any new shares and a reduction of share capital, require that votes cast in favor of the resolution, whether by show of hands or poll, are not less than three times the number of votes, if any, cast against the resolution. The Companies Act allows a company to issue shares with different rights to dividend, voting or otherwise, subject to certain conditions prescribed under the Companies (Issue of Share Capital with Differential Voting Rights) Rules, 2001. These rules require that for a public company to issue shares with different voting rights the company must have had distributable profits as provided in the Companies Act for a period of three financial years, the company should not have defaulted in filing annual accounts and annual returns for the immediately preceding three years and that the Articles of Association of the company allow for the issuance of such shares with different voting rights.
